

Kumi Ogano, adjunct professor of music, to perform piano concert on March 30

March 08, 2007

For immediate release - March 8, 2007

Contact: Amy Sullivan (860) 439-2526; amy.sullivan@conncoll.edu

NEW LONDON, Conn. - Kumi Ogano, Connecticut College adjunct professor of music, will perform a piano concert at 8 p.m. on March 30 in the John C. Evans Hall, Cummings Arts Center at Connecticut College.

Ogano will perform a number of selections, including music by Frédéric Chopin, Felix Mendelssohn, Alexandre Scriabine and Arthur Kreiger, the Sylvia Pasternack Marx Associate Professor of Music at Connecticut College.

Tickets are $10 for general admission and $5 for seniors and students. For ticket information, call 860-439-2720.

Ranked among the most selective private liberal arts colleges in the nation, Connecticut College enrolls 1,900 men and women from 43 states and 45 countries. The college is known for putting the liberal arts into action through interdisciplinary studies, international programs, funded internships, student-faculty research and service learning. Founded in 1911, the college operates under an 85-year-old honor code. The college is located at 270 Mohegan Ave, New London, about two hours by car from Boston and New York. The 750-acre campus is an arboretum overlooking Long Island Sound. For more information, visit www.connecticutcollege.edu.

-CC-